This Section applies from 24 February 2022:

Card transfers

A fee applies for card transfers.

- This means payment directed to a supported non-Revolut card number, made using the Revolut app. This fee will be calculated in real time and shown to you in the app before you confirm the payment. The exact fee will depend on the transaction itself (for example, on how much you are sending and where to). You can also see our live fees here.

All other international payments

- Your first payment is free per month (aligned to your renewal date). After that a fee will apply.
- This fee will be calculated in real time and shown to you in the app before you make the payment. You can also see our live fees here. The exact fee will depend on what currency you are sending and where you are sending it to but our maximum fees are capped.
- This means any international payment (other than a payment within the Single Euro Payments Area, as set out above).

Exchange

Whenever you make an exchange using Revolut, we use simple and transparent pricing:

- You get the real exchange rate;
- We add a small, transparent exchange fee (if one applies); and
- You see the total cost, with no hidden mark-ups or surprises.

This pricing applies to exchanges in money currencies. We've explained it in more detail below. The only time you will pay more than this is if you exceed the exchange fair usage limit for your plan. If you do, you will be charged an exchange fair usage fee on any exchange above the limit. All of our plans allow you to make at least 2000 лв. of exchange per month without an exchange fair usage fee. However, after that, an exchange fair usage fee of 0.5% applies for Standard and Plus plans. You can avoid this completely by upgrading to a Premium or Metal plan (if you haven't already), which don't have any exchange fair usage limits.

In all cases, the rate, and any fee (if one applies), will be shown to you separately in the app, along with the total cost, before you make an exchange. You'll be able to take a look, compare it against our competitors, and decide if you like the overall price or not - we think you will like it.

Exchanging money currencies

Whenever you make a money currency exchange using Revolut, we use our simple and transparent pricing formula of rate + fee (if one applies) = total cost.

We use the real exchange rate for money currency exchanges. The "real" rate can mean different things to different people (and can be given different names, like the "interbank" rate). But the truth is money currencies are exchanged by many different players on many different markets and there's no one rate to rule them all. Here at Revolut, the real exchange rate means the buy and sell rates we have determined based on the foreign exchange market data feeds we consume from a range of different independent sources. This is a variable exchange rate (which means it is constantly changing). We think you'll really like it.

The fee we charge (if one applies) is a single fee for money currency conversions. This is a variable fee, which means it changes depending on the parameters of your exchange (like what you are exchanging and when). You can see what this fee is, and how it is made up, in the app. It covers the following things:

- Exchanging an uncommon currency. This covers the costs and risks to us of dealing in less common or restricted currencies.
- Exchanging when the market is closed. This covers the uncertainty of making an exchange while the market is closed (which is why our fee can be smaller during business hours).

You can also use the currency converter tools on our website to understand what exchange rate fee applies when doing the following things:

- making a transfer (in a supported currency),
- making a card payment (involving a currency exchange in a supported or unsupported currency), or
- making a currency exchange (in a supported currency) in the app.

The applicable exchange rate fee will include any applicable fees for exchanging an uncommon currency or conversions when the market is closed.
